Obviously that machine which is easiest to understand, easiest to operate, easiest to get at for all adjustments and running repairs, is the best, provided it is also strongly and soundly constructed and develops its maximum power economically. These requirements are fully and successfully met in the Caledon chassis—hence the rapid rise to favour of these Glasgow-built vehicles.

Single vehicle users and fleet users alike are proving that ANYONE CAN. DRIVE AND LOOK APTER A CALEDON EFFICIENTLY IN THE SHORTEST TIME.

To Keep The Home Fires Burning

at the present time demands energy, perseverance, pluck, economy, cheerfulness, patience; in fact, it means calling into play all our virtues and forgetting all our vices.

And as far as possible we have to make provision for the future, because we do not know to what extent we may be called upon for further sacrifices,

Take coal, for instance, who can tell how the prices and supplies may be affected during the coming trying winter? You can make provision for the winter in this respect by now ordering

MULLINGAR SPRING MEETING,

DOWN ROYAL (MAZE) RACES,

Appearing stout is often only a matter of corsets. A stout figure may be also a graceful and stylish figure if the corset be carefully chosen. But the common mistake is to depend upon some freakish feature of boning or construction in the corset rather than upon clever designing and skilful cutting. The celebrated Royal Worcester Kidfitting Corsets are designed by Monsieur Lacoute, the world's greatest corset artist, and his superb full-figure models have always been recognised as par excellence. The most exclusive of his designs, hitherto confined to the costliest Royal Worcester models, are being reproduced this season in cheaper qualities, so that you can now buy the BEST SHAPES at practically the same price as ordinary corsets.

Royal Worcester

have no equal for comfort or value, and—unlike freak corsets which allow the figure to spread so that you need a size larger every year—Royal Worcester Corsets mould your figure to more and more beautiful lines the longer you wear them. HIGHEST AWARD of the London Institute of Hygiene.

If he is to be reinforced, he can only be reinforced from the Transylvanian front, so that General Sakrain har for against Cernavoda, even if it does not succeed in its direct object, should at least have the indirect result of relieving the enemy's pressure on that front. The dominant feature of the war situation, on a wide survey, is the Germans' steadily growing embarrassment for reserves. PRESIDENT WILSON. In a leading article on the American election, The Times points out that when the Germans supposed that Mr. Wilson was defeated, they beasted that it was the German-Americans who had "squared their account with him." They branded him as "the most hated man in Germany," and they proposed to indulys in a ruthless submarine campaign during the lass four months of his term, on the insolent assumption that he would have neither the power nor the will to challenge German action. Now that they find Mr. Wilson is elected, they welcome the event "from a German standpoint"—though the welcome is of a rather rueful kind. They are, indeed, confident that he will remain neutral apparently whatever Germany chooses to its—but they reductantly confess that "President Wilson." He dant Wilson remains President Wilson." He

The 'atmosphere' is too unhealthy for any appeal to duty or national honour or patriotism, or anything else which, in more favourable conditions, might lead men to enlist of their own free will. The result is only too plainly clear in the sheer indifference to the war and all its works, which is the outstanding feature of the Dublin or to-day. It is not surprising that those who have to live in an atmosphere so deadly to every patriotic impulse.

Two memorial tablets to the memory of the late Captain William Harold Barker and Major William Barker have been placed in the parish church, Rostrevor, and have been dedicated by the Primate. During the dedicated by the Primate. During the dedication service the names of those who have given their lives in the service of their country were read out, the congregation all standing.

At the monthly meeting of the Armagh Clerical Union an interesting and able essay on "Early Christian Art" was read by the Rev. Thomas Carey.

The Rev. A. G. Alexander, M.D., now serving as a temporary chaplain with the troops abroad, having resigned the curacy of Zion Church, Rathgar, the Rev. Franklin I. Hutchinson has been appointed to fill the vacancy there.

The institution of the Rev. H. M. Peer, M.A., the newly appointed incumbent of Maynooth parish, will take place in the parish church at 3 p.m. on Saturday next. The Archbishop of Dublin will perform the act of institution.

The Board of Nomination for the parish of Clonfadforan and Castletown, in the Diocase of Meath, have nominated the Rev. Marcus H. H. Given, curate of Kells, to fill the vacant incumbency.

SIR.—The late Mr. B. M. Barrington, whose metaerological records were kept with such singular exactitude for a long period of years, was at one time very desirous to set up an amemometer that might enable him to add records of wind velocity to the many other particulars as to daily weather at Fassaroe; but he abandoned the idea for the very reasons that are so clearly and convincingly given by Mr. Ellison in your issue of yesterdays date. There is no kind of instrument that would give satisfactory results, considering hew the force of the wind varies from hour to hour, and even from minute to minute.—Yours, etc.,

A WAR PROPHECY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR.—In the prophecy of Mayence (1854), recently published, it is predicted that, after three summers, the men of the west will end this war by a decisive battle on the Plain of Birches, between Harn, Woerl, and Padeborn. There are towns of Harn and Padeborn on the Lippe, a tributary of the Rhine, in Westphalia, but my map does not extend north of them. Can any of your readers tell me where, as regards them, is Woerl? It is a nice problem how possibly the scene of war can pass from the Somme to Westphalia.—Fours, etc.,

The Eternal Question

"T HAVE rung the changes on cold meats till Jack is I bored to death—yet I must use up the left-over things."

If this harassed little housewife only knew it she could have a most delicious cold meat meal just by adding Yorkshire Relish to the menu.

For Yorkshire Relish gives a magic touch of flavour which makes almost anything tasty. With it cold beef, or mutton, or ham or tongue, or fish are as different from plain cold meats as is an

FINANCIAL NEWS THE CONSOLIDATED GOLD FIELDS LONDON STOCK MARKETS NO SIGNS OF VITALITY.

THE IRISH TIMES: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 13: INDUSTRIAL SHARES DIVIDENDS, REPORTS, AND IRREGULAR. INSURANCE SHARES. FINANCIAL NOTE.

"Shell" 1 Motor Spirit

TEMPORARY WITHDRAWAL from Public Sale for Motoring purposes. Entire Supply practically absorbed by Government Aviation Needs. "Shell" II and "Crown" Motor Spirits still procurable everywhere.

With the thoughts and energies of the Empire concentrated upon winning the war, it will readily be appreciated that precedence in obtaining supplies of the world's finest motor spirit must be given to His Majesty's Forces and those of our Allies, particularly the vitally-important Aircraft branches which have so splendidly established our air supremacy. Their requirements, together with those of our submarine fleet, practically absorb the supplies of "Shell" I, upon which the Government relies for its Aircraft services.

The Proprietors of "Shell" Motor Spirit are accordingly forced temporarily to withdraw "Shell" I from sale for all purposes other than aviation, except in cases where petrol-gas lighting and other plants have been installed on the understanding of an unfailing supply of the highest-grade motor spirit being available.

In taking this step, the Proprietors know they may fully rely upon the co-operation of the motoring public in releasing "Shell" I for the above acute national needs, and in the direction of substituting "Shell" II until the situation improves and the Company is again able to supply the quality for which so marked a preference has Notwithstanding the heavy demand for "Shell" Spirit of all grades for the Allied Forces, we are able by increasing the supply of Shell "II and "Crown" Motor Spirits to the full extent of the withdrawal of the high grade "Shell" I quality, to meet the whole of the public requirements, merely withholding "Shell" I from sale for pleasure motoring purposes whilst the above position continues.
